The day starts with breakfast, followed by a 7 am trek that will take you to Bhojwassa, passing through Chirbasa at 3600 meters. The journey winds through dense forests and alongside the Bhagirathi River, offering picturesque views. Upon reaching Bhojwassa, makeshift camps will be set up, and you can visit a smaller temple by the river. In the evening, enjoy the mesmerizing sunset over the stunning Bhagirathi Peaks, then relax under a blanket of stars, taking in the serene surroundings before resting for the night.

DAY 3

From Bhojwassa To Tapovan Via Gaumukh

After a challenging trek that began in a fierce snowstorm, we reached Bhojwassa last night, where we savored our tea amidst the cold, refreshing air. Today, we set off towards Gaumukh, the revered source of the Ganga, located at approximately 3890 meters. As we crossed rocky inclines and ascended higher into the mountains, we made our way to Tapovan, situated at 4463 meters. Along the way, we were treated to breathtaking views of Lord Shiva's sanctuary and the towering Mount Meru. As the day came to an end, we set up camp for the night, close to the peaks, embracing the tranquil beauty of the surrounding mountains.

DAY 4

Trek from Tapovan to Nandanvan

At the start of the day, breathtaking sights of Lord Shiva's abode greet you, offering a profound sense of motivation to complete the rest of the journey. Walking over the Gangotri Glacier and navigating through the vast ice-covered stretches is a challenging task, requiring great care and caution. Soon, we arrive at Nandanvan, an alpine-like paradise enveloped in clouds. Here, we were treated to a panoramic view of the stars shining brightly in the clear night sky. Setting up our tents was essential for rest, and as we settled in, the anticipation of exploring the morning's marvels began to spark excitement for the adventure ahead.

Trek from Nandanvan to Vasuki Tal

The exhilarating 12-kilometer trek to Vasuki Tal, passing through the Chaturangi Glacier, began early for the group, and the views were nothing short of spectacular. As expected, the path was surrounded by snow-covered mountains, with the pristine glaciers adding to the grandeur of the landscape. Mount Satopanth and Mount Vasuki Parbat stood proudly alongside the crystal-clear lake, their majestic presence making the scene almost surreal. After taking in the beauty of the lake, we began our journey back, and the sight of mountains veiled in clouds was incredibly soothing, providing a sense of tranquility that made the experience unforgettable.

The Trail from Nandanvan to Bhojwassa

After a hearty breakfast with the vivid Himalayas as your backdrop, begin the stroll back to Bhojwassa. As you pass through the Chaturangi Glacier, be cautious of loose rocks and soil along the trail. Gradually, the trekking path transitions from icy cold to a more wooded landscape as you approach Bhojwassa. Once back, set up camp near the river and take in the serene beauty of the surroundings. Enjoy the tranquil evening as the setting sun casts a warm glow over the landscape, completing a peaceful and memorable day.

Bhojwassa to Gangotri Trek

After breakfast, follow the serene path alongside the Bhagirathi River, making the descent to Gangotri both easier and more pleasant. The journey takes about four hours, so take your time to savor the peaceful walk and enjoy the stunning views along the way. Upon reaching Gangotri, pay your respects at the Gangotri Temple, dedicating a moment to honor Goddess Ganga. Afterward, explore the local markets and shop to your heart's content. Once you've rested and refreshed, prepare for the flight back to Dehradun, reflecting on the incredible experiences of the trek.
